How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

PIANOS.

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREAT merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish—finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, dry out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297 50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

THE LADIES RETIRED QUICKLY.

It Was Because of the Gallant Colonel's Collision with a Nail.

A most amusing thing happened in the swimming pool at Excelsior springs on the night of the Third Regiment ball, which put to flight a score of ladies and caused a gallant colonel much discomfiture. After the dance Governor Francis, Col. Breathitt, railroad commissioner; Col. Bull, military inspector of the state; Adjt. Gen. Wickham, Col. A. C. Dawes, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Mr. Mills, of St. Louis, and several other gentlemen went in bathing with a score of young ladies. All went gayly as a marriage bell, and all being good swimmers a jolly time was being had. But amid the noise of splashing of water, and screams of merriment as some luckless man was pushed off the platform into the water, came a faint cry for help from Col. Dawes.

"What's up, old man?" cried the governor.

"Come here a minute. I want you."

"Swim up here then," cried half a dozen who were loth to leave the fun that was going on.

Taking pity on the colonel, who is a very demure fellow and well liked, half a dozen ladies ran up to him and proffered their services, which the colonel, amid blushes that did him credit, gently but firmly declined, and he again called for the governor. The governor not coming, and the agonized look on the colonel's face being more than one of the ladies could bear, she insisted that the colonel tell her what was the matter, but by this time Mr. Mills had arrived on the scene.

"What is it, old man; what can I do for you?" he inquired.

Drawing Mr. Mills' head toward him a whispered word was sufficient to explain the situation.

"Can we help him?" "Is he hurt?" "Shall I call a doctor?" formed a part of the hundred questions asked by the anxious ladies, who were alarmed at the aspect of Col. Dawes sitting motionless in the water up to his neck.

"No, ladies, there is no need for your calling a doctor, though you might call a needle and thread; but as it is I think you had all better quietly retire to the further end of the hall while the colonel gets out of the water. A nail in the platform has rip"——

But by this time there was a stampede of the ladies for the dressing room, whence for five minutes one long scream of laughter came.

By the aid of a fishpole the missing trunks were found, and after threatening to issue a challenge in due form as soon as he reached the hotel, Col. Dawes retired to his room.—Kansas City Times.

Rattlers Charmed by Music.

Paul Keister, a local musician, played Saturday evening at a dance at a farm house back of Yulupa mountain.

Next morning he started for home. At one point the path winds around a [illegible] was loading a quantity of sa[illegible] wheat on a farm wagon, he rece[illegible] when a scare which he will not fo[illegible] arn very soon. He had just should[illegible] w a sack of wheat, which by the [illegible] took had recently been received from [illegible] Fresno, when his attention was [illegible] im. tracted to a hissing sound. [illegible] ing his head in the direction of [illegible] of sound he discovered a small rat[illegible] snake about fourteen inches lon[illegible] crawling on his left arm. He i[illegible] mediately dropped the sack an[illegible] "shooed" his snakeship off wit[illegible] his hand, luckily escaping bein[illegible] stung by the fangs of the reptile[illegible] Upon investigation it was discov[illegible] ered that the snake had taken up[illegible] his abode in the sack of wheat, an[illegible] being disturbed had crawled out o[illegible] his temporary abiding place. Dan[illegible] Davisson, happening along, and ob[illegible] serving that the snake appeared to[illegible] be unusually large around the body, at once proceeded to dissect the [illegible] and winding themselves up they lifted their heads closely together and fixed their shining eyes on the musician. Keister's nerves were now utterly uncontrollable.

With a yell he grabbed his fiddle by the neck and brought it down with crushing force on the heads of the snakes. The blows stunned the reptiles, and Keister kept hammering away until they were dead. He broke his beloved violin into splinters, but he saved his life. The snakes measured six and seven feet respectively. One carried ten rattles and the other seven. —Kansas City Star.

Cross People.

"I believe," exclaimed a bright woman one day, "that I would rather have a really wicked person in the house, if he would only be good natured, than to live with the best one who was cross."

This was extreme, but any one who has ever endured the society of an irritable companion for many days will feel a sympathy with even this strong statement. Such a companion is a species of torture.

It sometimes seems as though almost every duty were more forcibly impressed upon the young than the duty of amiability. In many quarters this virtue is absolutely at a disadvantage. The cross ones are likely to get a reputation for greater ability than the pleasant ones. "Fools," we are told, "are always amiable."—Harper's Bazar.

Owing to improved sanitary and other conditions the chances of life have increased 5 per cent. during the last ten years.

And Yet It Survived.

When the Puritans came to Boston in 1630 it was under the following instructions:

"We especially desire you to take care that no tobacco be planted by any of the planters under your government, unless it be some quantity for mere necessity and for physic, and that the same be taken privately by ancient men, and none other, and to make a general restraint thereof as much as in you is."

In Prince's "Annals of New England" we find that a similar public sentiment was embodied in the laws of this colony. In 1632 it was "ordered that no person shall take any tobacco publicly, and that every one shall pay a penny sterling for any time of taking tobacco in any place."

Two years later: "The general court forbid any person to use tobacco publicly on fine of 2s. 6d., or privately in his own dwelling, or dwelling of another, before strangers, and they also forbid two or more to use it in any place together."

Such was the æsthetic view in olden time. Are we growing more or less civilized?

What shall be said of puffing pipes or cigars along the streets and upon the sidewalks into the faces of men, women and children? What right has any one to fill God's pure air, which is as much mine as his, with such loathsome fumes, so that I am compelled to keep my mouth tightly closed, and every few steps make futile attempts to blow away the noxious cloud?

"To be sure, it is a shocking thing," Dr. Johnson writes, "the blowing smoke out of our mouths into other people's mouths, eyes and noses, and have the same thing done to us."

Now, have gentlemen the smallest idea of the discomfort and annoyance occasioned by this habit?—Tobacco Problem.

The Uses of a Hairpin.

A gentleman seated himself in a shady nook of Central park for a comfortable half hour with his favorite magazine, the latest number of which he had but just purchased. Much to his annoyance he found that he had taken an uncut copy, and having no pocketknife or other paper cutter he essayed to part the leaves with his forefinger. A succession of indentations in the print resulted. He next tried a lead pencil, with but little better effect. The edges of the pages hung in shreds, and in some places it was necessary to match the pieces in order to read the printed matter. While indulging in mental vituperation against uncut periodicals the gentleman casually glanced across the shaded path and saw a young woman seated on a bench opposite him apparently engrossed in the contents of an illustrated paper.

While he was looking at her she endeavored to open the paper, but found that the leaves needed cutting. Without a moment's hesitation her right hand sought her back hair, out came a hairpin and in a twinkling the leaves were neatly slit apart. The hairpin was restored to its proper place and the male observer, with a suddenly awakened recollection of the multifarious uses to which he had previously seen the hairpin put, laid aside his magazine and mused on the greatness of that tiny instrument which in a woman's hands is not only a hair fastener, but a paper cutter, a tape needle, a cork extractor, a glove and shoe buttoner, a skeleton key, a shawl fastener, a crochet needle, a fish hook and various other things.—New York Times.

Adamite Attire Among the Chins.

If no military success has been achieved by the Chin field force much interesting information has been collected relative to the numerous tribes inhabiting the Chin mountains. Besides the Chins themselves they comprise Yindus, Chinbons, Welchungs and Chinboks. Nearly every tribe speaks a different dialect. From notes made by Lieut. Rainey, commanding the Chin frontier levy, and published by the government, it appears that some of these tribes are almost as barbarous and ignorant as the savages of Central Africa. They wear scarcely any clothes, and the historical fig leaf accurately represents the full dress of some of the villagers.

Their dwellings have no furniture; they have no laws, no religion and no government, except an incomplete village system. Medical science and surgery are absolutely unknown. Their habits are repulsively filthy. They, however, display remarkable mechanical ingenuity, constructing wonderful bridges on the cantilever principle. In some tribes the sole arms are small knives and bows and arrows. They are skillful archers, killing tigers and bears at eighty yards. The women of all the tribes have their faces hideously tattooed to prevent their being carried off by the Burmans.—London Times.

An Apt Quotation.

Bibliomaniac—What I want now is a suitable motto—please don't touch that book; I paid $40 for the binding alone—a suitable motto for this room. What would you suggest?

Just Wanted the Chance.

Tramp—That was a good dinner. Any little thing I kin do for you now?

Tramp—What! Am I goin' to have an after dinner cheroot? Thunder! I ain't picked up a stump since I left the city.—Detroit Free Press.

MUSICAL CAR HORSES.

A Critical Driver Says a Word About Them and Signal Bells.

On several street car lines in this town the signal for starting—one bell—is the same as that for stopping. In the same cars is a gong with a clock face register, by which the conductor keeps account of the fares collected by him. The fare gong always rings once for each passengor, and as it is located near the stand occupied by the driver it occurred to a reporter the other day to ask a driver how he distinguished between the conductor's stopping signal and the ring of the fare gong.

"Why," he replied, "as a rule I do not hear the fare gong at all. My attention is fixed upon the bell that gives the sound that I know to be the one that has to do with moving the car."

"Then you determine your action according to the pitch of the bells you hear?"

"Certainly. I know the difference in the quality and the pitch of the tones, and so do the horses. Do you know, the horses would never start from hearing the ring of the fare gong. They know the starting gong by its tone alone, and that they obey. It takes a good horse about three days to get used to the signals. But sometimes we get horses that run over the streets for three months before getting accustomed to the signals of the conductors. Beside them there are horses that do not seem to have the capability of learning either the pitch of the bells or the rhythm in which they are sounded.

"I tell you that horses are just like human beings. They have different capacities, and if they are not naturally musical they drag along month after month, pulling the cars, and starting when they should not, and stopping when they should go forward, and never dropping into any understanding of the signals of the route. It all comes down to a musical apprehension of the tones sounded. From this it comes that some car horses are done up in a year and others last fifteen years. The more intelligent they are the longer they last."—New York Sun.

A Bit of Romance.

Chief Engineer James A. Hamilton, of the British steamer Castlegate, relates a bit of romance about his wife and himself which will be interesting to the people of Cambridge, Md., where Mrs. Hamilton lived up to about two years ago. The young engineer and his wife were playmates in Edinburgh, Scotland, and when they got to be man and woman Cupid had kindled a tender feeling between them. But Mr. Hamilton went off to sea, and in his roaming about the world he forgot the maiden in Scotland, and that she ceased to think of him is shown by the fact that one day about ten years ago Miss Lizzie Kerr (that was her name then) married a young physician, Dr. Edward Graham, who had been Hamilton's rival for the lady's favor in boyhood. The young doctor had settled in Cambridge, and after going back to Scotland and getting his bride he resumed his practice there. About two years and a half ago he died, and the widow returned to Scotland. On going home to Edinburgh one day at the end of a long absence Mr. Hamilton found his old sweetheart there. Their love revived and "so they were married" one day in May, 1889.—Baltimore Sun.

How Esquimaux Dress.

Clothing for men consists of knee breeches, belted at the loins, a loose fitting cloak, trimmed around the bottom, and the hood with wolf or wolverine or a blending of both, a pair of stockings and a short legged pair of boots with sealskin soles. In winter two suits are worn, the inner suit with the hair next to the body and the other with the hair turned out. The difference between the dress of men and women is that the latter have their boots, stockings and pantaloons all in one garment. The cloaks of all females have at the back of the neck a fullness, for carrying infants. These cloaks come down below the knees and are gorod out at the sides up to the hips, making the front look like an apron.—Sitka (Alaska) Letter.

Stigmata.

A recent communication to the Academie of Medicine respecting Dr. Mesnet's investigations as to stigmata, or cliches, as they are now often called, shows that if pressure on the skin of susceptible subjects is made in the form of letters such letters are clearly distinguishable when nervous derangement causes the skin to change color. In one experiment the words "La Nature" were traced out on a patient's neck, and the letters in a few minutes developed in color. It is observed that people susceptible to stigmata are hysterical or epileptic, and frequently experience local want of sensation.—New Orleans Pleayune.

A Bright Polly.

A lady of Bremen, Me., has a parrot and a cat. The cat's name is Shag. The lady has taught the parrot to spell c-a-t, cat, d-o-g, dog, and a few such words, and the other day Polly electrified the household by spelling very loudly and plainly, "c-a-t," and then pronouncing it "Shag." Perhaps Polly can't think.—Boston Journal.

An Unwelcome Visitor.

Mr. Derwentwater (who has made an art purchase)—I've a surprise for you, Helen. One of the real old masters will come to-night.

Bruce, the waiter (an ex-slave)—W-w-what'll I hide, boss?—Judge.

SWEET WINE BILL.

The prospects for the sweet wine bill are considerably better than they were two weeks ago, and there is a chance that when Congress finally agrees upon the tariff and internal revenue legislation, the long sought privilege of having brandy for fortification, free of tax, will be granted. If it is not, the wine men of California will know just where to put the blame—and in deciding who is responsible for the failure, they are apt to remember Senator Hearst with no degree of complaisance.

On the 6th inst. when the Senate reached the sweet wine clause in the bill, Mr. Hearst moved that the clause in the House bill, giving the sweet wine producers their desired boon, and which had been stricken out by the Senate Finance Committee while Senator Hearst was attending the races instead of attending to the State's business, be restored. He was headed off by Senator Aldrich, who promised that the clause would be restored in the conference committee, where he and Carlisle, who are favorable to the wine men's interests, would attend to the matter. The chances are that we will have to depend on McKenna in this committee as well as the gentlemen named, and so Hearst's connection with the bill may be said to be at an end, and he can now return to his racing interests.—Pacific Wine and Sprit Review.

BLACKMAIL.

It is reported that a disreputable, self-styled Republican paper in this county is levying tribute on the Republican county nominees. It is claimed that the candidates of that party are waited upon with the demand that they take ten or twenty copies of the paper for a year. Some have very foolishly done so. This shows a weakness on their part which ill becomes a public official. Any man who would be thus bled, deserves to be defeated for the office he aspires to. The sheet referred to has no influence whatever and its ill-will will do a candidate more good than harm.

Eczema from Childhood.

When an infant my body broke out all over with an eruption of rash, which became more aggravated as I grew older. From early childhood until I was grown my family spent a fortune trying to cure me of the disease. Every noted physician in our section was tried or consulted. When I became of age I visited Hot Springs, Ark., and was treated there by the best medical men, but was not benefited. After that, under the advice of a noted specialist, I tried the celebrated Clifton Springs, New York, without any good results. When all things had failed I determined to try S. S. S., and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible Eczema was all gone, not a sign left; my general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease. I have since recommended S. S. S. to a number of friends for skin diseases, eruptions, etc., and have never known of a failure to cure.

Put on the Brakes.

If you find you are going down hill in point of health. Failing strength, impaired digestion and assimilation are the marks of decline. Check these and other indications of premature decay with the grand vitalizer and restraining tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Beginning at the fountain head, the stomach, the bitters remedies its inefficiency, corrects its errors, and sets it vigorously at work. The digestive organ is thus enabled to thoroughly separate from the food its nutritive principles, which the blood assimilating, is enriched. Thus is the system nourished, and being nourished strengthened, and abnormal waste of its tissues stayed. Appetite the power to rest well, a regular habit are also re-established, and the various functions move once more in their natural and healthful groove. The Bitters moreover, is a specific for and preventive of malarial complaints, rheumatism, biliousness and kidney troubles.

Advices from Santa Rosa state that Jas. McDonnell, who yearns to become a Republican Boss, has been in that city the past three weeks looking out for Number One.

It is rumored that Geo. Maxwell is to move his El Verano newspaper to Sonoma, with M. K. Cady as manager and T. B. Holmes as editor. Verily, Boomtown must be on its last legs.

A brakeman on the Donahue road named Joseph Kelley had one of his thumbs badly larcerated Tuesday afternoon while coupling cars at this place. It is thought the member will have to be amputated. He was a new hand, and hence the accident.

Philip Bill has favored us with a box of small, bell shaped to[matoes]. They resemble egg plums in shape and color and are most excellent for pickling. They are very rare, and are the first we have ever seen in this valley.

Sixteen dollars per ton has been offered this week for wine grapes and refused. It is the general impression among vineyardists that ordinary wine grapes will be in demand at $20 per ton before the season is over. Winemakers at the present time are offering $12 to $16.

Ed. Steiger has unearthed on his farm between Agua Caliente and Glen Ellen a fine quarry of building stone. The stone has been pronounced by experts to be the most enduring and the cheapest to work in the State. It is almost white in color and has much the appearance of granite.

Mrs. G. H. Hotz has returned from San Francisco, where she purchased the largest and finest stock of millinery goods ever brought to Sonoma. Ladies will do well to attend the grand opening next week at which will be displayed the latest styles of hats and bonnets with birds and all kinds of pretty flowers for trimming, the prices of which are very low.

It is stated that Maxwell cannot appeal the Bacon case, which was decided against him last month. If this be so investors in Boomtown lots and villa sites will have to look to Mr. Bacon for their titles. As Messrs. Bacon, father and son, have been taken in by the boom in this valley we have no doubt that they deeply sympathize with their fellow victims.

An intoxicated Italian became involved in an angry dispute with a number of his countrymen on Spain street last Monday night. In order to command their respect he drew a pistol and fired a shot into the crowd, numbering about twenty persons. Strange to relate no one was hit. The shooter was immediately seized and disarmed and unmercifully beaten by a number of those present. He was then released and admonished never to resort to fire arms again when he desired to settle his difficulties.

A large quantity of artesian water is being allowed to run to waste in this town. There is a general law on our statute books which makes it a misdemeanor to allow water from artesian wells to run to waste. This law was approved March 9, 1878, and can be found in statutes 1877-88, page 195. The object of the law is to prevent our subterranean water supply from becoming exhausted, as has been the case in some parts of Santa Clara county, where fine wells ceased to flow because the owners of contiguous wells allowed the water from the same to run to waste day and night, thus destroying their own wells as well as those of their neighbors.

THE HOTEL DEAD BEAT.

He Gets in His Work in Sonoma but Comes to Grief.

A dapper little fellow made his appearance in this town on the 19th of last month and registered at the Union Hotel as A. G. Farris, S. F. Dressed in the latest style and of engaging manners he was not long in ingratiating himself into the good graces of a number of young ladies of this place. His stay here was one round of pleasure. He was courted and flattered and was the envy of the other young men of the town. He was a total stranger here, but for all that cut a wide swath in the social world. After a week's sojourn at the Union, mine host Moore gently hinted to the young man that it would be the correct thing to settle his board bill at the end of each week. The young blood was profuse in his apologies for not being able to do so, and stated that an expected remittance, which never came, would soon set things to rights. Thus matters went on for three weeks when one morning the rascal turned up missing. He had quietly jumped the town and left for parts unknown. To say that Dick Moore of the Union Hotel was mad would hardly express it. He immediately set about to capture the young dead beat. He traced the fugitive to Santa Rosa and last Saturday afternoon he was arrested at the Tupper House in that city by Deputy Sheriff Breitenbach and lodged in jail.

The Sonoma Fruit Dryer.

The fruit dryer for which the INDEX-TRIBUNE has labored so long is now an established fact. Messrs. Cassidy and Weyl, the owners, are running night and day. At the present time the dryer is giving employment to fifteen boys and girls at $1 per day, who otherwise would be idle. TLe occupation is light and consists in peeling the fruit and spreading the same out on the drying trays. The wages earned by these boys and girls is spent right here in town and amounts in the aggregate to about $400 per month. Then comes the farmer, whose fruit for years past has been allowed to rot on the ground because it would not pay to pick and ship it to San Francisco. The dryer has established a home market for the products of his orchard, which will enable him to cultivate his fruit trees with profit in the future. Already Messrs. Cassidy and Weyl have paid out a large sum of money for apples etc., and are still bargaining for all the fruit that can be procured in the valley. Should the dryer prove a financial success this season its capacity will be greatly enlarged next year and all our idle boys and girls will be given employment. To this end we trust that Messrs. Cassidy and Weyl will be given every encouragement in their undertaking by both farmers and business men in Sonoma Valley.

Illegal Fishing.

For some years it has been known to local sportsmen that employees on the ranches bordering Sonoma creek have been in the habit of catching young trout with illegal nets. To such an extent has the practice been carried that the creek is now one of the poorest trout streams in the valley. This season's trout fishing in Sonoma creek was so poor that the ire of a number of the local disciples of Isack Walton, became aroused and it was resolved to keep an eye out for the offenders and if caught in the act to have all such arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law. One day last week the opportunity presented itself, with the result that on Saturday Eugene Taussaint was arrested on complaint of W. W. Fowler for illegal fishing in Sonoma creek. The defendant, it is claimed, was caught in the act of catching young trout less than three inches in length with mosquito netting. These fish are from spawn put in Sonoma creek near Glen Ellen by the Fish Commissioners some months ago. The defendant will be arraigned before Judge Cheney to-day.

Improvements.

A. J. Van Every is having a new porch built on his residence on Spain street.

The new roof of the Sonoma House is nearly completed.

C. W. Engelbert's new residence on Napa street will be ready for occupancy next week. It is one of the prettiest cottages in town.

The two story stone building being erected by Charley Dal Pegetto on Napa street will be completed next month. It will be used as a barber shop and residence.

A large brick kiln is being burned on the Vallejo place by A. Pinelli. The demand for brick in Sonoma is on the increase. Should this latest experiment of Mr. Pinelli's prove successful a number of brick buildings will be erected early in the spring.

G. S. Harris' livery stable, which is being erected on the corner of Napa and First-street West, will be completed by the 1st of October.

The new bank building and Masonic Hall when completed will be one of the handsomest structures in the county.

Narrow Escape from Being Dragged to Death.

Last Saturday morning Miss Foshay, a niece of J. A. Losse, narrowly escaped being dragged to death. The young lady was mounted on a spirited mare and while turning the corner of Broadway and Napa streets, the animal commenced to rear and plunge. Miss Foshay lost her balance and fell. Her riding habit became entangled in the pommel of the saddle and she hung suspended from the same, her head and shoulders nearly touching the ground, the animal in the meantime whirling and prancing around in a frantic manner. At this moment Joseph Lewis, who was standing on the corner, came to the rescue. With rare presence of mind he seized the animal by the bits and with considerable difficulty released the young lady from her perilous position. His prompt action no doubt prevented Miss Foshay from having her brains dashed out. As it was she escaped without a scratch, although considerably frightened at her narrow escape.

Chas. Donahue of Ceres, Stanislaus county, is home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Donahue.

The service conducted by the Rev. Mr. Church of San Francisco in the school house last Sunday was very well attended.

The Congregational church will have a mum social at the home of Mrs. M. P. Akers on Thursday evening, Sept. 25th, to which all are cordially invited.

THE CANDIDATES.

In these columns will be found the political announcements of a number of Democratic and Republican candidates, who have been put forward by their respective parties for the various offices.

H. L. WESTON,

The regular Republican nominee for Assemblyman of Twenty-fifth District, is an old resident of Petaluma, and at one time was one of the owners of the Argus at that city. He is well qualified for the position and if elected will make a good, honest representative.

B. S. YOUNG,

The regular Democratic candidate for Coroner, is a well-known and successful physician of Santa Rosa. He will get the full support of his party, and being a doctor he expects not a few Republican votes, as it is argued that a Coroner ought to be a physician.

P. N. STOFEN,

The Democratic nominee for Treasurer, is in the field for re-election. The Captain is too well and favorably known in Sonoma Valley to need any praise at our hands. The only fault the Republicans find with Peter is that he is a Democrat.

ALLEN BRYANT,

His Republican opponent, is a shrewd business man and in every wise competent to fill the office of Treasurer. He is becoming more popular every day in this valley, where he at one time resided.

MRS. FANNIE MCG. MARTIN,

The Republican nominee for Superintendent of School, has held the office for four years and certainly has made an excellent officer, and that is why she was unanimously nominated by the Republicans for re-election.

ROBERT HOWE,

Democratic candidate for State Senator, is a resident of this place. He has hardly an enemy in the world. Jovial, genial, generous, kind-hearted and a good neighbor he would get the votes of almost everybody in this valley, were it not that he has a mighty good fellow running against him in the shape of J. W. Ragsdale of Santa Rosa. Bob, however, does not covet all the votes, and says he is satisfied if he can get enough to elect him.

J. F. MULGREW,

Regular Democratic candidate for Sheriff, is one of the most popular young men in this county. His popularity is not confined to any particular section, and he is as strong in the southern part of the county as in the northern.

L. W. JULLIARD,

The Democratic nominee for County Clerk, is the present incumbent. He was elected by a large majority two years ago. He has made a most efficient officer and is courteous and obliging to everybody with whom he is thrown in contact.

H. C. PETRAY,

Democratic candidate for Superintendent of Schools, is one of the foremost educators of Sonoma county. He is the principal of the Santa Rosa High School, and is a man who is in every sense qualified for the position. In placing Mr. Petray on the ticket, we must confess that the Democrats have selected one of the strongest men in the county.

JOEL M. ZANE,

Republican nominee for Assessor, is a resident of Glen Ellen, where he has lived for thirty years. Jo is a good man and if allowed to run the office himself will make a model Assessor.

J. W. RAGSDALE,

Republican nominee for State Senator, is one of the most pleasing and polished gentleman that we have met for many a day. He is an old newspaper man and at one time edited the Santa Rosa Republican with great ability. He is a self-made man and by his own exertions worked his way up in the world from printer's devil to editor. At the present time he is in the real estate business in Santa Rosa.

ALBERT G. BURNETT,

The Republican candidate for District Attorney, has held the office for one term. He has made one of the best prosecuting officers that Sonoma county has ever had. He has no opponent and will of course be re-elected.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleuse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Coughs and colds kept off by taking Simmons Liver Regulator to regulate the system.

South Los Gollicos Squibs.

W. Browne has purchased a lot in town.

Fred Green went to Petaluma Saturday.

N. W. Griswold spent Wednesday in town.

Mrs. J. Walters went to San Francisco Monday.

The INDEX-TRIBUNE arrived on Saturday last week.

J. K. Luttrell is shipping wood to Santa Rosa this week.

Grape picking will commence on the Dunfillan ranch in a few days.

Miss Sophia Williams and mother passed through town last Monday.

Fred. Kerridge is cleaning his vineyard of quail and has had good luck.

H. B. Carpenter has nearly his whole crop of grapes harvested. He is ahead of all the rest in this vicinity.

James Shaw returned from his annual hunt last Saturday. He killed 3 bear, 10 elk and a carload of deer.

Miss Hettie Hoyt, who presides over the Summit Joint school district, made a flying trip to Santa Rosa last Saturday.

We received a letter from Morley Bones last Saturday in which he says that times are exceedingly dull in Alaska and that he will try and get home for Christmas.

Ed. Luttrell and family are visiting his uncle J. K. Luttrell this week. Ed. resides in Folsom and is well acquainted with Fred Weise. The friends of Fred in this vicinity will be glad to know that he is well and also doing well.

J. K. Luttrell expects to leave this week for a two weeks trip in the northern part of the State on a speech making trip. He will make his opening speech at the ratification meeting in Yreka, Siskiyou county, his old home.

H. L. Luttrell was in Sonoma one day last week and says that there is more improvements in town than he ever saw before. Sonoma has woke up from her long sleep. He says if they keep it up they will soon have a town second to none in the county.

Wm. Wells, the ventriloquist who has been at Hotel Kirkwood for several weeks for his health, left Sunday for Denver, where he will spend the winter. During his stay in this place he made many friends who all wish him well on his trip and hope he will keep his promise and come back next summer and give an exhibition in Sonoma, for he is one of the finest ventriloquists of the age and always pleases his audiences.

A GREEN COUNTRY BOY.

South Los Guilicos, Sept. 17, 1890.

Snake Editor Happy.

Our snake and insect editor is happy. For the first time in several months he succeeded in rounding up a couple of items this week. Yesterday afternoon while A. Schenckberg, a clerk in F. Duhring's store, was loading a quantity of sacked wheat on a farm wagon, he received a scare which he will not forget very soon. He had just shouldered a sack of wheat, which by the way had recently been received from Fresno, when his attention was attracted to a hissing sound. Turning his head in the direction of the sound he discovered a small rattlesnake about fourteen inches long, crawling on his left arm. He immediately dropped the sack and "shooed" his snakeship off with his hand, luckily escaping being stung by the fangs of the reptile. Upon investigation it was discovered that the snake had taken up his abode in the sack of wheat, and being disturbed had crawled out of his temporary abiding place. Dan Davisson, happening along, and observing that the snake appeared to be unusually large around the body, at once proceeded to dissect the reptile and discovered two mice in the snake's stomach. His snakeship was evidently not a vegetarian. A large South American scorpion, about four or five inches in length, was discovered in the sitting room of a resident of this place one day this week. The reptile had two claws similar to a crab's and a stinger on its tail that was a caution. It is supposed to have found its way into the house in a bunch of South American bananas. The sting of this insect is said to be sure death.

Why suffer with dyspepsia, biliousness or any disease of the liver when you can be cured by Simmons Liver Regulator.

The Limits of Moralities.

If a clever writer can reconcile it to his interests and artistic conscience we should allow him to attempt the feat of making impossibilities seem probable, and extravagances appear real. He may people a mad world of his own imagining with demons and angels sharply divided. He may introduce the spiritual or supernatural machinery, which seldom works very smoothly, even when put together by a Bulwer—the story of "The Haunted and the Haunters" is an exception—and which is exceedingly likely to break down. But of course he must hazard all that at his own risk, and with the betting very heavily in favor of seeing his clever novel come adrift.

Extravagances are one thing and absurdities another, and we are not speaking of those simply trashy tissues of folly by lunatics with no sort of literary vocation, which will not even serve the purpose of soporifics to any girl of discretion who is out of her teens. We think the most permanently popular novels, those which have become the classics or favorites of successive generations, although inspired by the genius of a glowing imagination, will be found to be those which have kept most closely to actualities and hold up the mirror to veritable persons.—Saturday Review.

Preparation of Manuscript.

Each pad of a hundred sheets of the paper that I use has a foundation of colored cardboard. When I begin the manuscript of a story I take two of the foundation pieces, lay them face to face, and pierce holes in them with a good sized awl, on the left hand side, at a distance of three inches from the top and bottom and one-half inch from the edge. Through these holes a tape is passed, which is tied in a bow knot, forming a book cover which can readily be enlarged as the pile of manuscript grows thicker. I lay the sheets between the covers, face down, as I finish them, thus having at all times a neat and handy volume to look over.

When the whole manuscript is completed I join the covers in the back by pasting a strip of black muslin, lapping nearly an inch on the edge of each cover, taking care to have the muslin just wide enough to form a firm back. Then I take the tape out of the holes, furnish each of these with a separate end of string and tie them into clasps. On the top cover I paste a label, bearing the title of the book. It seems like an elaborate process, but one need only to try it once to see how simple it is, and the manuscript remains neat during the natural course of its existence.—Cor. Writer.

He Lives by Lying.

Ed Mott, author of "The Old Settler Sketches" which have appeared in the columns of The New York Sunday Sun during the past fifteen years, is short, stout and old fashioned. He is about 40 years old. Mr. Mott has the enviable reputation of being "a most polished garnisher of the truth." As a writer of snake, coon, eel, bear, deer, trout, chub, rat and bull head stories he stands unrivalled in American journalism. He was born in Pike county, Pa., and what he does not know about that locality is hardly worth knowing. Out of his prolific brain he manages to earn about $4,000 a year, nine-tenths of his work being pure fiction of the most delightful kind. In journalism Mr. Mott is known as possessing the rare and enviable faculty of always having, as they say, a "nub" to his stories.—Current Literature.

What the World Needs.

The manager of a traveling show, who had a philosophy of his own and a language of his own in which to express it, advertised for a double somersault performer.

There were about fifty applicants. One said he "used" to do the act, but was a little out of practice. Another thought he could soon "get there." And so the story ran.

The manager was filled with disgust. "Twenty-five 'used to be's,'" he said, "and twenty-five 'going to be's,' and not an 'is-er' in the whole lot. I want an 'is-er.'"—Youth's Companion.

Reign of Terror Among Beggars.

An Englishman in Naples made a bet with some young Italians that he could set all the lame and paralyzed beggars crouching in a certain corner of that city on a "clean run." Matters having been arranged the Englishman retired, and after a while came rushing wildly round the nearest corner, followed by a rabble, shouting: "The tiger is loose! The tiger is coming," etc., and dashed madly past the beggars, who in their terror forgot their professional trickery and leaping to their feet fled with the crowd.—London Tit-Bits.

Frightened to Death by a Snake.

Mollie Henderson, colored, of Spottsylvania county, while walking in a field near her house and picking some berries for amusement, discovered a huge snake near her feet. She quickly retreated, but was so frightened that she fell to the earth in a senseless condition. Her family soon discovered her condition and took her to the house. Medical aid was summoned, but without avail, and she expired that night.—Fredericksburg Star.

A Revenue Fraud.

"I'm a free trader myself, Algernon, but I think you should have been compelled to pay an import duty on those detestable English airs you've brought over this trip."

"Haw! Impawt duty—vewy good! But they were in actual personal use when I landed, donchersee?—Life.

WHICH WILL IT BE?

Which is the fairest, a rose or a lily? Which is the sweetest, a peach or a pear? Merry's coquettish, and charming is Milly; Rose is gentle and fair. Sweet as a flower was her face when I kissed (Love is the romance and glory of life,) Milly, sweet Milly, I love "like a sister," But Dora I chosen for my wife.

"That is right, young man, marry the girl you love, by all means, if she will have you. Should her health become delicate and her beauty fade after marriage, remember that this is usually due to functional disturbances, irregularities, or painful ailments peculiar to her sex, in the cure of which Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money refunded. See the printed certificate of guarantee on bottle-wrapper.

For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic, or strength-giver.

San Francisco, Cal.

A Brawny Bargee at the Helm.

To-day it is raining in torrents. He knows by experience the value of a "Fish Brand Slicker." It is his sole article of dress, and to him worth drawers, shirt, coat, vest, and pants. He'll tell you tales by the hour of storms lasting days and nights when that "Slicker" made up the whole difference between comfort and misery; and all for a mere trifle from his week's pay. Why don't you buy one for yourself? To realize how little it costs, think how long it lasts. It will outwear four suits of clothes. Better get one to-day, before you forget it. A day's delay may cause a month of sickness, and cost a hundred times the price of a Slicker. Beware of worthless imitations; every garment stamped with the "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. Particulars and illustrated catalogue free.
